

I am concerned about corporate mergers in the broadcast industry. We have lost local radio with the buyout of local stations by media conglomerates. This has not improved the quality of radio programming. I still believe that the public was better served before media conglomerates have homogenized the stations and hope the commission rejects this attempt to centralize the control of broadcast television. It does not serve the public interest.